ELECTRIC RATE FIGHT OF CITY MAY BE ENDED

Businessmen Ask Council To Stop Court Suit, Permit Refund

$30,000 Already Impounded Would Be Returned To Users, Three Say

Possibility was seen Thursday that Circleville council may withdraw its court fight against a 10-year contract with the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., permit the ordinance to go into operation and provide a refund of about $30,000 now being impounded by the utility company.

The suggestion was made at Wednesday evening's council meeting by J. W. Crist, D. E. Mason and T. O. Gilliland, who appeared as a committee of the Chamber of Commerce considering utility rates.

They said that 1,800 domestic users of electricity in addition to all the stores and business houses in the city would receive a refund, some of the business houses as much as $200, if the court contest is ended. The 10-year contract, they point out, would still have six years to go since it was four years ago that the ordinance was passed and the court contest started.

The ordinance would operate retroactively, the spokesmen said. The rate controversy went to court after a previous council approved a 10-year contract and opponents of the measure including some of the present members of council, launched a referendum petition. After the petition had been completed and presented to Will Graham, who was then mayor, the electric company slapped an injunction against the mayor to prevent him from taking any action on the petitions. The case went to Common Pleas court with the city fighting the injunction, and that is where it remains now.

Several councilmen expressed themselves as willing to follow the suggestions of the Chamber of Commerce committee; others were non-committal.

The $30,000 impounded represents the difference in the rates in the contract under which Circleville is now paying and the contract that was passed four years ago. The 10-year contract provides for lower rates than the city is paying now.

British Attempt To Land At Norwegian Port "Weak"; Gains In South Claimed

BERLIN, April 18—Failure of a "weak" British attempt to land in the region of the northern Norwegian port of Narvik was announced by the German high command today as officials insisted the situation there remains unchanged.

German authorities said the British expeditionary force in Norway continued to spread to the North from its landing base at Harstad.

But at noon today, they said, the German commander at Narvik sent information to Berlin stating there was no change in the situation and reporting that German forces occupied the Narvik iron ore railway as far east as the Swedish frontier.

In addition, it was claimed, the Germans had captured, among other Norwegians, the commander of the Bardufoss airport, north of Narvik.

German reconnoitering expeditions, furthermore, failed to establish the presence of enemy forces anywhere among the islands stretching southward from Narvik toward Trondheim, it was claimed.

Landing Repulsed
The German war communiqué detailed the situation in Norway and told of the repulse of the British landing attempt.

"In the Narvik region," it said, "weak English forces yesterday for the first time attempted to land at Herjangsfjord near Elverarsmoen but were repulsed by German troops stationed there.

"A British air attack on Trondheim remained unsuccessful owing to timely German defense. In the Oslo region the day passed quietly."

In Berlin, German authorities commented that the repulse of the attempted British landing was regarded as the "first failure" of the British in testing the strength of the German defenses at Narvik.

AUTOIST FINED AFTER CAR HITS MYERS' TRUCK

Harley Crago, 525 East Union Street, a WPA worker, was fined $100 and costs and placed in County Jail Thursday by Mayor W. B. Cady after his automobile had hit the truck of Clarence Myers, painter, 223 Walnut Street, Wednesday, at 11:30 p. m. and then crashed into a telephone pole on South Pickaway Street at the N. & W. railroad tracks. Crago was charged with operating a motor vehicle when intoxicated and with leaving the scene of an accident. Patrolmen Charles Mumaw and Carl Radcliff made the arrest.

The Negro, who had steadfastly denied killing Crawford with robbery as a motive, pleaded guilty to manslaughter after a mistrial was threatened when a member of the jury trying him was injured in an automobile wreck during the course of the trial. Toles had been indicted for second degree murder.

Gerhardt said that Pickaway County court officials, including himself, Judge Meeker Terwilliger and Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, will protest Toles' release on parole.

WASHINGTON, April 18—President Roosevelt today joined Secretary of State Hull in expressing the hope that a status quo would be maintained in the Pacific.

The President told his press conference that Secretary Hull's warning to Japan to keep hands off of the Dutch East Indies covered the situation pretty well and he had nothing to add to it.

WASHINGTON, April 18—An implied warning to Japan to stay out of the Dutch East Indies was written large on the international horizon by the United States today and administration officials awaited its repercussions in the Orient.

In the quiet, restrained language he usually employs, Secretary of State Cordell Hull answered the recent statement of Japanese Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita, claiming a "special interest" for Japan in the oil-rich islands of Java, Borneo and Sumatra, by saying:

"Intervention in the domestic affairs of the Netherlands Indies or any alteration of their status quo by other than peaceful processes would be prejudicial to the cause of stability, peace and security, not only in the region of the Netherlands Indies, but in the entire Pacific area."

The secretary's statement bore out the prediction by International News Service last Monday that the United States would not stand by idly if Japan manifested an intent to take these strategic outposts in the Far East.

An international issue involving the future status of the Netherlands Indies was discussed today.

First reports that the storm had struck came when an appeal was made to the sheriff's office at Alexandria.

Girl With Upside-Down Stomach Found To Be Bride of Handsome Bellhop, 23

CHICAGO, April 18 — Alyce Jane McHenry, who five years ago gained nation-wide fame as the "upside-down stomach" girl and who is now but 15 years old, today was found to be honeymooning in Chicago.

Alyce, it was learned, eloped to St. Charles, Mo., last March 22, Good Friday, with William Kern Byle, 23, a bellhop at a Chicago loop hotel who had been planning to enter Northwestern University at Evanston. He formerly attended the University of Illinois.

Alyce was operated on for her "upside-down stomach" at Fall River, Mass., by Dr. Philemon Truesdale, in one of the strangest cases in medical annals. She fully recovered and, healthy and pretty, has been working as a professional model.

When found at a small hotel with the bridegroom, Alyce today refused to tell of her romantic episode, beyond the bare details of the elopement. Her mother, Mrs. Louella McHenry, a sister, Mrs. Jean Vickers, and a "business agent," Martin Daley of New York, were with the couple.

A more detailed story of the romance was obtained from Hal Moore, a fellow bellhop. Moore said:

"Byle was the most handsome bellhop in the hotel. He married Alyce after a whirlwind courtship and after he had known her only a month.

Several Thousands Lost; Station Agent Used As Human Shield

PATERSON, N. J., April 18—Three bandits armed with machine guns escaped with several thousand dollars in cash today after overpowering a United States mail driver and a guard at the suburban Little Falls station of the Erie Railroad.

Scene of the holdup, in which a terrified station agent was used as a human shield by the bandits, is only a few miles north of Nutley, N. J., where an actual train robbery was staged in Jesse James style several years ago.

With cool precision, the bandits trussed up the station agent, guard and mail driver with wire, then looted the mail truck, slitting open bags of registered mail in their search for valuables.

So leisurely and carefully did they rifle through the mail sacks that fully ten minutes elapsed from the time of their arrival until their departure in a high-powered car.

Postal inspectors and federal agents immediately were rushed to the scene from Paterson and took up the pursuit.

Wearing dark sun-goggles to mask their features, two of the bandits suddenly seized the station agent, Charles Schallace, as he was loading a hand truck with mail. Using him as a shield, they BERLIN, April 18—The German luxury liner Bremen "is lying safely in a German harbor," authoritative German quarters stated today in reply to new reports that she had been sunk. The vessel was not used as a troop transport in Scandinavian waters, it was said.

German airplanes were said to have been hit on the ground or in the air and a German submarine hit. Extensive damage was done to the Stavanger runways by exploding bombs, the announcement declared.

The statement said: "Extensive air operations were carried out yesterday and last night at several points on the coast of Norway. "The main attack was directed on Stavanger. A large number of enemy aircraft were seen dispersed around the edge of the airdrome.

NEW YORK, April 18 — "I see that Monte Pearson's already enjoying poor health," said the old Yankee scout today, as he noted that the veteran right hander had pitched the Yanks to a four-hit, 4-1 decision over the Athletics in the only game played in the majors yesterday.

"That guy continues to suffer all year," continued the old scout happily. "He's a cinch to win 25 games."

And thereby hangs a tale. Pearson, the man of many aches, always has something to complain about. A sore back, a bad arm, a headache, or an upset stomach for Monte means a bad afternoon for the other club.

Baseball men generally agree that Pearson has more stuff—bar nobody—than any pitcher in the game. He has speed to burn; a great change of pace; all the curves in the books, control and a good head.

In the last two World Series his victories were masterpieces of the art of pitching. And it was not noting that Monte's arm didn't "feel so good" before either performance. When the other Yankees heard that, they knew the game was in the bag for them.

RED AND BLACK HARRIERS, GOLF PLAYERS BOOKED

Two Circleville High School athletic teams are scheduled to take part in competition Friday, the track and field team traveling to Lancaster to meet the Golden Gate Harriers, and golf team booked to play host to Wilmington's varsity quartet on the Pickaway Country Club course.

However, a possibility existed that rainy weather might force postponement of both events.

The track team hasn't had a single opportunity to practice this week and neither have the golfers. While the Lancaster event would be an independent fray, the golf match is in South Central Ohio League competition.

WALKER BOUT OKEIED

COLUMBUS, April 18—The Ohio heavyweight title bout Monday night between Jack "Buddy" Walker, Columbus Negro who wears the crown, and Tom Kenneally, Chicago boxer, today received the sanction of the Columbus Boxing commission. The fight is to go 10 rounds. Kenneally, who boasts a victory over Lee Savold, was branded as "one of the best heavies produced around Chicago in years" by Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission.

FAMOUS RIDERS TO PARTICIPATE AT BEULAH PARK

COLUMBUS, April 17—Skilled riding talent will be plentiful at Beulah Park's 25-day Spring meeting, which gets under way Saturday, April 20. The Jockey club is expected to have more than 50 members, including such saddle experts as Paul Keiper, Roberto Gonzales, Stewart Vail, Willie Prehm, Joe Dyer, Bill Page, Clinton Wagner, Earl Dew, Patterson Milligan, Euclid LeBlanc and Ovie Schurlock.

Gonzales is a Puerto Rican under contract to E. B. Shipp, the long and lean Missourian. Shipp also plans to introduce a new rider by the name of Andy Bomar at Beulah.

Vail is a Beulah Park veteran and enjoys a large following among the Grove City clientele. Prehm, top rider at the Beulah meeting last fall, recently returned from Santa Anita, where he rode with fair success.

Although a veteran of the saddle, Dyer has ridden at Beulah only infrequently. He has been exercising horses at the Central Ohio course for several weeks, coming here from New Orleans, where the meeting closed March 2.

Wagner and Dew are associated with the large stable being campaigned by Earl Beezley. They recently rode at Agua Caliente. Milligan was at Beulah Park last Spring but he is returning a more polished and experienced rider. LeBlanc, line Milligan, has been plying his trade at Tropical Park.

Scurlock is the last and reputed to be the best of the five riding Scurlock Brothers.

Prompt Pay Pulls Up Lane, Will Miss Derby

By Clyde L. Reece

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18—Followers of Prompt Pay, from the Woolford stables of Kansas City which produced Lawrin, 1938 Kentucky Derby winner, can switch to some other favorite for this year's big race, because the big colt is out of the running.

Officially, the withdrawal awaited another examination by a veterinarian today, but handlers, and Herbert M. Woolf himself, were not expecting any miracles, and prepared to lay the big son of Inasco away for several weeks.

"It is part of the game," Woolf said. The Missouri sportsman came to Churchill Downs just in time to see his chief bidder for $75,000 added pulled up lame in a workout on a sloppy track yesterday. He must now pin his hopes on Inscollie, Inscollie or Queenemo, all offsprings of Inasco, who sired Lawrin.

Woolf experienced a heart-breaker last year when Technician, going great-guns in training after copping the Flamingo Stakes in Florida, went sour two days before post time and ran a poor race behind Johnstown, Chalcedon and Heather Broom.

Good luck and tough luck go glove-in-glove at the race track, though, so the backstretch colony and the ever-growing crowd of railbirds, turned to the job of greeting Mioland, the lone "western horse" in the May 4th subscription list, enroute from California where he copped the San Juan Capistrano Handicap. Redeeming himself for a fourth in the Santa Anita derby.

All awaited the 1940 debut of Bimelech, top favorite, at Keeneland, Lexington.

NEWLY-FORMED RACING CIRCUIT CHOOSES DATES

COLUMBUS, April 18 — The Indian Summer Circuit, newly-organized harness-racing organization, today announced that it would sponsor a three-day meet at the state fairgrounds October 16, 17 and 18.

The other members of the circuit are Marysville, which will hold its annual fair meeting October 2, 3 and 4, and Lancaster, with October 9, 10 and 11 dates.

Purses at the latter two meets will total $7,000 each, while the Columbus meeting will put up stakes of $10,000 for the trotters and pacers.

RAIN POSTPONES 10-PIN EFFORTS OF OHIO SQUAD

DETROIT, April 18 — For the first time in the 40-year history of the American Bowling Congress championships, play was postponed "because of rain" but the arrival of more of the nation's top-flight bowlers over the week and promised today to set the tournament back on the championship level.

Two Bowling Green, Ohio, teams drew a "damp deck" because of a leaky roof and were allowed to erase game scores of 743 and 738 and start all over again tomorrow. Cleveland teams scheduled on the same lanes were allowed to bowl on other alleys on a "dawn shift."

Rain To Force Association to Delay Openers

Columbus Scheduled To Meet Brewers, But Showers Are Expected To Halt Tilt; President's Cup At Stake

COLUMBUS, April 18—Franksome April showers made it improbable today that the American Association would be able to launch its 1940 season with a full four game card.

However, uncertain climatic conditions did not deter magnates in Toledo, Columbus, Louisville and Indianapolis from staunchly adhering to original plans for inaugurating the Association's 39th season.

The opening day schedule had Kansas City at Toledo; Milwaukee at Columbus; Minneapolis at Louisville; and St. Paul at Indianapolis.

GODOY HANDLER DEMANDS FIGHT WITH CHAMPION

DENVER, April 18—Al Weill, the pudgy fellow who manages Arturo Godoy, today issued an ultimatum to Mike Jacobs, czar of the heavy-weight fistieuff world, demanding both a quick answer and a rematch for Godoy with Joe Louis.

Godoy as the unheralded challenger from Chile who went the distance with Louis in Madison Square Garden on February 9. Weill, who said Mike Jacobs wants the fight, but that the management of the world's titleholder has been blocking it, set May 3 as deadline for a decision on the rematch.

The wily New Yorker, who nursed Lou Ambers, lightweight champion, from a $30 purse to a top take of $82,709 against Pedro Montanez, injected some practical psychology into his ultimatum.

If the rematch between Louis and Godoy is made before May 3, Weill says that in event of a Godoy victory, he will allow his fighter's purse to remain in escrow as a guarantee for a rematch with Louis within 60 days.

The Chilean's manager was emphatic in his claim that Godoy is the only logical opponent available for Louis and pointed to the Paychek fiasco as proof of the claim.

COUNCIL SENDS WATER SERVICE INTO NORTHEND

Utility Asked To Extend Mains Into Atwater And Park Street Area

FIRE HYDRANTS NEEDED

Additional Protection To Be Provided For Hayward, York District

Evidence of more extensive home construction in the northend of the city was disclosed Wednesday evening when Circleville council was asked to authorize the Ohio Water Service Co. to extend its mains and erect fire hydrants in several north side streets.

A few years ago Atwater Avenue, Seyfert Avenue, Park Street and Reber Avenue were named only and only scantily populated. Today numerous residences have been constructed and plans have been drawn for construction of many more during the spring and during the next few years.

Council voted its approval Wednesday for the water company to install 1,664 feet of pipe on Atwater and Park Streets and to place two fire hydrants on Seyfert and Reber Avenues.

Additional fire protection for the Hayward Avenue district was assured when council approved a request that the water pipe be installed on Hayward and the Scioto Street extensions with a fire hydrant to be placed at the Scioto and York Street intersection. A water line 955 feet long will be run on Hayward and Scioto Streets to the Ohio State Highway Garage.

THE NEXT CONGRESS

Those who are opposed to National Socialism in this country have a job on their hands. It is to nominate strong men for Congress and the Senate on both the major tickets, and then to elect a strong man next November. This job can't wait. By the time the national conventions are over most of these nominations will have been made.

If a President is elected who is determined to proceed toward National Socialism in America everything will depend upon having enough men in the House and Senate who will say "NO."

It is impossible to name all the problems that the next Congress will have to deal with. One or two, however, are plainly indicated. The handwriting is on the wall. The problem must be dealt with. That problem is: What are we going to use for money?

For the tenth consecutive year we are operating the federal government at a deficit. Already taxes are so high that no one can afford to pay them. They know they will run into the law of diminishing returns both as to tax receipts as well as enough successful businesses to tax.

Nevertheless, the deficits continue. One way out is to increase the national debt limit beyond the present ceiling of $45 billion. Already Secretary Morgenthau has recommended that it be raised another $5 billion to $50 billion, but if the deficit continues at the present rate even $50 billion will not give a margin that will last more than a couple of years. Then what?

Like Micawber waiting for something to turn up, we can hope for an $80 or $90 billion income sufficient at present tax rates to yield enough taxes to balance existing outgo. That, however, is nothing but a hope, a gamble.

So what will the New Dealers do? They can't raise taxes and there is a limit to the public debt. But they still have a card to play.

The card is to take over some of the profitable businesses of the country; for example, the telephone companies, the railroads, the radios, and from there on, one by one.

These are getting to be about the last cows to milk. By taking them over, instead of taking a percentage of their profits in taxes, the government would take over all the profits. And as long as these companies could be operated profitably in political hands, which would probably be for a few years, the government would have an immense new source of revenue. Eventually, judging from all past experience, political control would blight them and new deficits would be charged to the remaining body of taxpayers, if any.

Then there are the insurance companies. This is no idle dream. The government has already gone heavily into the insurance business through Social Security. At the time the Social Security Act was passed, it was openly whispered in Washington that one of the real reasons for it was to acquire new sources of revenue through the payroll tax. Social Security is bringing in seven or eight hundred million dollars of tax revenues a year over and above disbursements.

This is one of the issues the next Congress may face. It will be said, "Well, gentlemen, you have three alternatives,—either increase taxes, increase the limit of the public debt, or take over these industries."

There would be no outright confiscation. The government would issue its bonds to the present owners. The bonds are printed on a very good quality of paper; the ink is excellent; the engraving is beautiful. Nevertheless, they are nothing but promises to pay, issued by a government which is not now able to pay. I have no doubt that the present bonds are safe. I am talking about future bonds. It is perfectly obvious that if deficits continue long enough they will not be safe.

If we haven't enough political courage to levy taxes or reduce spending sufficiently to pay present costs of government, it is foolish to expect our children to pay our costs as well as theirs. Consequently, I would suggest that every owner of America—even if he has nothing but a deposit in a savings bank or a life insurance policy and thus is an indirect owner—to ask each candidate for Congress in his district whether he can be depended upon to meet this issue.

The next step would be to nominate and elect a Congressman whom you can depend upon. If you elect that kind of Congressman you will be reasonably safe regardless of who is elected President. And if you don't, you are not safe.

ASHVILLE STORE KEEPER LOSES $85 ON 'BOARD'

Circleville and Pickaway County store and confectionary operators are warned to watch out for a punch board racket that has already cost an Asheville man about $85. The story making the rounds is that a punch board salesman appeared in the Asheville business house, sold his punch board and walked out.

A while later two more men came in with the apparent intent of selling some packet matches to the store operator. He declined to buy, but one of the men spied the punch board, a cash affair, and proceeded to punch out winning numbers. The store keeper, whose name was not revealed, said that he put out about $85 to the men.

He believes the man who sold him the board and the men who entered the store later in the day were working together.

Since store keepers are not permitted to use punch boards no complaint was made to county authorities.

GOOD WILL HOUR SHIFTS

Radio's Original Good Will Hour, now in its fourth highly successful year under the direction of John J. Anthony, will shift from MBS to the NBC-Blue network beginning with the broadcast of Sunday, 10 p. m. after which broadcast it will be aired weekly at the same time.

Informant, the Original Good Will Hour is a forum where troubled individuals may appear to state their problems and receive non-legal counsel.

From his rich and varied background, Mr. Anthony does his best to give the people who appear before him advice that he knows is the best suited to their individual problems. There is, of course, no obligation on the part of the listeners to accept this counsel, but the mere fact of appearance on this program intimates a desire to be aided by an outsider whose perspective and experience are of value.

Young and old, rich and poor, native and foreign-born, from all strata of society, have appeared in this broadcast period. It is not exaggerating to say that most of these people have benefitted from their contact with Mr. Anthony.

Many of the advice-seekers have kept Mr. Anthony in touch with their new lives, the lives began after consulting with him. Babies have been named after him, and, in many cases, those who have been benefitted by Mr. Anthony's advice, have offered to aid other people in trouble.

RIPLEY'S PROGRAM

Bob Ripley's CBS "Believe It Or Not" program next Friday night brings Bert Hall, the world's greatest soldier-of-fortune to the microphone.

Hall, sole surviving member of the original Lafayette Escadrille, who has fought in 14 different armies, both for and against each, will tell of his fabulous exploits. Hall's appearance is particularly timely because he is credited with being the first man to use an airplane for military purposes.

Other guests will be Mrs. Edith Bruce, who was the first woman to fly and whose husband was the financier of the Wright Brothers' successful flights in France, and Mrs. Ada deLauchau, composer of "Liza Jane," who will tell how she came to write the song in San Francisco in 1914 when Ruth Chatterton asked her if she knew an old Southern melody that would be good for the second act of "Come Out of the Kitchen."

The dramatization will reveal one of the strangest cases in English jurisprudence, in which a judge dismissed charges against a man whose theft of a 10-pound note had saved the judge's own mother from a death sentence in the same court many years before.

RADIO NOTES

Thrilling story of the battle between two great railroads to achieve a speed record is planned by Rush Hughes for his "Hughes-reel" story of April 23 on "Johnny Presents." Under the title, "Reaching for a Railroad Record," Rush will tell and dramatize the story of how the iron horses finally topped the 63-mile-per-hour record which stood for many years. Hughes is co-featured on "Johnny Presents" each Tuesday at 8 p. m., on NBC-Red with Johnny Green's orchestra, the Swing Fourteen and Johnny the Call Boy.

Statisticians point out the possibility of a very sizeable "consolation jackpot" accruing after a few weeks of the new "Take It Or Leave It" program. The jackpot is made up of money left over when participants miss, forfeiting their cash awards on the series. Losers are offered a chance at it toward the end of the program if they answer only one question correctly. But if they miss, the pot is held over until the following week and continues to grow. "Take It Or Leave It," with Bob Hawk as master of ceremonies,

COUNCIL SENDS WATER SERVICE INTO NORTHEND

Utility Asked To Extend Mains Into Atwater And Park Street Area

FIRE HYDRANTS NEEDED

Additional Protection To Be Provided For Hayward, York District

Evidence of more extensive home construction in the northend of the city was disclosed Wednesday evening when Circleville council was asked to authorize the Ohio Water Service Co. to extend its mains and erect fire hydrants in several north side streets.

A few years ago Atwater Avenue, Seyfert Avenue, Park Street and Reber Avenue were names only and only scantily populated. Today numerous residences have been constructed and plans have been drawn for construction of many more during the spring and during the next few years.

Council voted its approval Wednesday for the water company to install 1,664 feet of pipe on Atwater and Park Streets and to place two fire hydrants on Seyfert and Reber Avenues.

Additional fire protection for the Hayward Avenue district was assured when council approved a request that the water pipe be installed on Hayward and the Scioto Street extensions with a fire hydrant to be placed at the Scioto and York Street intersection. A water line 955 feet long will be run on Hayward and Scioto Streets to the Ohio State Highway Garage.

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

THE NEXT CONGRESS

Those who are opposed to National Socialism in this country have a job on their hands. It is to nominate strong men for Congress and the Senate on both the major tickets, and then to elect a strong man next November. This job can't wait. By the time the national conventions are over most of these nominations will have been made.

If a President is elected who is determined to proceed toward National Socialism in America everything will depend upon having enough men in the House and Senate who will say "NO."

It is impossible to name all the problems that the next Congress will have to deal with. One or two, however, are plainly indicated. The handwriting is on the wall. The problem must be dealt with. That problem is: What are we going to do for money?

PETTENGILL

For the tenth consecutive year we are operating the federal government at a deficit. Already taxes are so high that no political party in power facing a coming election dares to raise them. They know they will run into the law of diminishing returns both as to tax receipts as well as enough successful businesses to tax.

Nevertheless, the deficits continue. One way out is to increase the national debt limit beyond the present ceiling of $45 billion. Already Secretary Morgenthau has recommended that it be raised another $5 billion to $50 billion, but if the deficit continues at the present rate even $50 billion will not give a margin that will last more than a couple of years. Then what?

Like Micawber waiting for something to turn up, we can hope for an $80 or $90 billion income sufficient at present tax rates to yield enough taxes to balance existing outgo. That, however, is nothing but a hope, a gamble.

So what will the New Dealers do? They can't raise taxes and there is a limit to the public debt. But they still have a card to play.

The card is to take over some of the profitable businesses of the country; for example, the telephone companies, the railroads, the radios, and from there on, one by one.

Washington Fears Grab At Isle Area If Germany Moves On Holland

(Continued from Page One) Japs East Indies has been raised by reports from Europe that Germany may occupy Holland as it did Norway. If that should happen, these tropical islands—rich in oil, rubber and tin—would become orphans in the vast wastes of the Pacific. They have been ruled by the Netherlands for more than 300 years.

American interest in the Dutch East Indies lies primarily in the fact that they produce vast quantities of oil—enough to supply Japan's army and navy and relieve Tokyo of its present dependence on American petroleum.

The secretary's statement did not mention this fact. He based his warning on treaties guaranteeing sovereignty of Holland in its Far Eastern possessions. After reviewing the Indies islands' economic and strategic importance, and admitting American dependence on them for a number of commodities, Hull deplored any possible intervention, and asserted:

"All peaceful nations have during recent years been earnestly urging that policies of force be abandoned and that peace be maintained on the basis of fundamental principles, among which are respect by every nation for the rights of other nations and non-intervention in their domestic affairs, the according of fair and just treatment, and the faithful observance of treaty pledges, with modification thereof, when needful, by orderly processes.

"It is the constant hope of the government of the United States—as it is no doubt that of all peacefully inclined governments—that the attitudes and policies of all governments will be based on these principles and that these principles will be applied not only in every part of the Pacific area, but also in every part of the world."

Stimson Stand Recalled. Hull's statement followed the general diplomatic policy laid down by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson when Japan first began its campaign for a "new order in Asia" by invading Manchuria in 1931. In what is now known as the "Stimson Doctrine," the then secretary of state announced that the United States would not recognize the validity of any conquest which was made by force.

It is frankly admitted here that the present United States naval force in the Far East cannot challenge Japan should the issue become one of peace or war. American forces in the Pacific now number only two cruisers, 10 destroyers and a few submarines. However, a battle force mightier than Japan's lies east of Hawaii. The question is whether American foreign policy, in the last analysis, will permit it to be used.

PRIME MINISTER NOT INTERESTED IN BALKAN AREA

LONDON, April 18—No Balkan state need fear aggression by the Allies, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declared in the House of Commons today.

Replying to a question regarding the recent conference in London of British ministers to Balkan nations, Chamberlain said:

"The conference was held for the purpose of discussions for preservation of peace and promotion of security in the Balkan and Danubian countries.

"No one of these states, between whom it is the desire of the Allies to see a growth of mutual understanding, has any cause to fear that the Allies or their forces will ever threaten their independence or integrity."

Asked whether any other threat to southeastern Europe "would not be a matter of great concern" to the British government, Chamberlain said:

"I have expressed the concern which the government feels for the situation in the Balkans and its desire to promote peace and establish security in those regions."

ONE KILLED, SIX HURT AS BLAST HITS FREIGHTER

CLEVELAND, April 18—The second assistant engineer on the freighter B. H. Taylor was killed today and six other members of the crew were injured, one seriously, when an explosion rocked the ship while it lay anchored at the Erie Railroad Company's dock in Cleveland Harbor.

The engineer, Stewart Church, 33, was trapped on a stairway in the engine room when a steel throttle exploded and released great quantities of steam.

Church and the other members of the crew were all residents of Rogers City, Mich.

Carl Wendel, a coal passer, was the most seriously burned. He and other members of the crew were taken to Lutheran Hospital. They were:

Wesley Bishop, third assistant engineer, severe burns; Eugene Jones, scalded; Stanley Grabryzak, burns and a back injury suffered when a piece of cast iron torn loose by the blast struck him; Bernard Darga, slight burns; Robert McCormick, scalded.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined, but it was believed the steam pressure on the freighter had gotten too high, police said.

Church leaves a wife and one child.

The crew was warning up the Taylor's engines preparatory to leaving tomorrow for Conneaut to take a load of coal on board.

JURORS LIBERATE OHIO MILLER IN ARSON CASE

TROY, April 18—Gustav Holland went free today after a Common Pleas court jury deliberated only 30 minutes before acquitting him of an arson charge in connection with a $100,000 fire that destroyed the Holland Mills at Piqua last December.

William Dowty, a state witness, previously pleaded guilty to arson and was sentenced to Mansfield Reformatory. He testified that Holland induced him to start the fire to eliminate competition from a new mill Holland organized. Defense witnesses asserted that Dowty was "unstable."

15,000 GERMAN SOLDIERS LOST, BRITISH LEARN

(Continued from Page One) lacked official confirmation, was told by a Norwegian sailor named Rydningen, one of the survivors of the British steamer Stanciliffe which was torpedoed off the Scottish coast on Friday. The British admiral said it had no information. The same was true of a Stockholm report that the Nazi pocket battleship Luetzow, formerly the Deutschland, had gone aground on the Norwegian coast.

The Norwegian seaman was one of the 16 survivors rescued after the Stanciliffe went to the bottom.

Used As Transport He advanced his claim that the German luxury liner Bremen had been sunk while serving as a troop transport after other survivors had revealed their experiences with the German U-boat commander who sank the British steamer.

These survivors said the German submarine commander gave them a bottle of rum and 500 cigarettes—at the same time warning them:

"After May 1, we will sink all shipping on sight and spare no blood."

BERLIN AFFIRMS HOLD ON NARVIK

"German fighters thereupon attacked the British units employed in the attack as well as other units further north.

"One cruiser was hit directly as a bomb of heaviest calibre sank immediately. Furthermore, four direct hits by heaviest calibre bombs were effected on light and heavy cruisers. One destroyer was hit directly by a bomb of heaviest calibre.

"The cruiser hit belonged to the London and Suffolk classes. It was observed that one stopped, another was listing and a third was damaged. Also there were oil patches on the water.

"Two British planes were shot down over Stavanger.

"In the Oslo region the Germans made considerable progress everywhere reaching the day's objectives. An advance detachment near Kongsvinger continued to advance to the North.

"Despite adverse weather, supplies reached Norwegian ports in increasing quantities. On the Western Front our advance posts southwest of Saarbrücken repulsed an attack by an enemy company, inflicting losses on the latter."

'KID McCoy', 68, SHARP WARNING ENDS OWN LIFE SENT TO ITALY IN HOTEL ROOM TO BE NEUTRAL

DETROIT, April 18—The much-married Norman Selby, 68, who won ring immortality as "Kid McCoy," today killed himself by taking an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Police said two notes were found on a night table near his bed in a downtown hotel. One was addressed to the paymaster at the Ford Motor Company, where he worked as a service man for the last seven years, and asked to give whatever money was coming to him to his wife.

The other was addressed "to whom it may concern." Its contents were not immediately disclosed.

Selby's pajama-clad body was discovered by Henry Burke, assistant manager of the hotel where the famed fighter registered Tuesday night. When Selby failed to answer a call left last night for ten o'clock this morning, Burke investigated and found the body.

Coroner Albert A. Hughes officially termed the death due to an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He said the second note directed all the "Kid's" property be given to "My good wife, Sue." Hughes added:

"The note also said he was sorry he did not have the chance to continue his work for young boys, a reference to some youth work in which McCoy had been engaged."

His wife and brother, Homer Selby, were summoned immediately.

'UPSIDE-DOWN' GIRL MARRIES

"I was emaciated and thin following the operation but I was sure I could make the grade as Annette did, as soon as I got out of bed.

"First I had to learn to walk all over again. I think that was the hardest part of my recovery. Finally they taught me to swim.

"Constant exercise strengthened my muscles. I started to gain weight."

She weighed 40 pounds when the operation to right her stomach was performed, and now weighs 118. She began her career as a model at 13, when Walter Thornton, head of a New York model's agency, hired her. In 1939, she was named "Swim for Health Week" girl.

Her bridegroom is the son of Dr. Arch S. Byle, Fort Myers, Fla., surgeon, and is ambitious and industrious, his friends said. Alyce was of Omaha, Neb., at the time of her operation.

Library Notes

Daniel R. Pfoutz, librarian, reports the following new books now in the public library:

"Wyatt Earp; Frontier Marshal" by S. N. Lake, a biography of a frontier marshal who outshot the bad men of the toughest mining towns and cow towns of the Old Southwest. On buffalo range, in Dodge City, Deadwood and Tombstone, he altered the course of western history. Wyatt Earp is a real man with real fights and adventures that outrun the novelist's imagination.

"Skating" by Harold Putnam, an easy-to-follow instruction book for skaters, covering technique, fundamentals of skating games, and other information.

"Wrestling" by E. C. Gallagher, a book giving the techniques and fundamentals of this age old sport.

"Lees' Guide to the Game of Draughts or Checkers" by J. W. Dawson, a book on the technique of checker playing, giving the best lines of attack and defense on the standard openings, with notes and variations and selected useful positions.

"From Ragtime to Swingtime" by Isidore Witmark, a story behind the song hits of yesterday from "Sweet Adeline" to "Naughty Marietta." It is the story of the publishing house of Witmark and the part it played in the flowering of American music as well as an autobiography. The House of Witmark started with three boys and a toy printing—this is their story, you read it.

"Best Broadcasts of 1938-39" edited by Max Wylie. Mr. Wylie has done for radio what Burns Mantle has done for the stage. Mr. Wylie has selected the enduring elements of radio. There is fun with a Town Hall program, a news commentary, a University of Chicago round table, drama from the Silver Theatre, a talk by Deems Taylor, March of Time, and H. V. Kaltenborn.

"The Well Tempered Listener" by Deems Taylor, a new book about music and musicians which is divided into "The Makers," "The Givers," and "The Hearers."

"Coulee Dam" by the United States Bureau of Reclamation, a booklet containing a compact, illustrated account of this huge structure. It gives the historical and economic background, the technical features, and the social and economic significance of this undertaking.

'KID McCoy', 68, SHARP WARNING ENDS OWN LIFE SENT TO BE NEUTRAL IN HOTEL ROOM

DETROIT, April 18—The much-married Norman Selby, 68, who won ring immortality as "Kid McCoy," today killed himself by taking an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Police said two notes were found on a night table near his bed in a downtown hotel. One was addressed to the paymaster at the Ford Motor Company, where he worked as a service man for the last seven years, and asked to give whatever money was coming to him to his wife.

The other was addressed "to whom it may concern." Its contents were not immediately disclosed.

Selby's pajama-clad body was discovered by Henry Burke, assistant manager of the hotel where the famed fighter registered Tuesday night. When Selby failed to answer a call left night for ten o'clock this morning, Burke investigated and found the body.

Coroner Albert A. Hughes officially termed the death due to an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He said the second note directed all the "Kid's" property be given to "My good wife, Sue." Hughes added:

"The note also said he was sorry he did not have the chance to continue his work for young boys, a reference to some youth work in which McCoy had been engaged."

His wife and brother, Homer Selby, were summoned immediately.

ONE ACTIVE TUBERCULAR CASE FOUND IN CLINIC

Only one active tubercular case was found in the quarterly chest clinic, conducted Wednesday under the authority of the County Tuberculosis Dispensary, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, reported. Twenty-eight persons were examined by Dr. M. D. Miller, supervisor of the Franklin County Sanatorium, 12 persons from the city and 16 from the county.

Dr. A. W. Thomas, from the State Department of Health, visited the clinic Wednesday.

who, because of her perfect figure, became a movie star.

"I was emaciated and thin following the operation but I was sure I could make the grade as Annette did, as soon as I got out of bed.

"First I had to learn to walk all over again. I think that was the hardest part of my recovery. Finally they taught me to swim.

"Constant exercise strengthened my muscles. I started to gain weight."

She weighed 40 pounds when the operation to right her stomach was performed, and now weighs 118. She began her career as a model at 13, when Walter Thornton, head of a New York model's agency, hired her.

In 1939, she was named "Swim for Health Week" girl.

Her bridegroom is the son of Dr. Arch S. Byle, Fort Myers, Fla., surgeon, and is ambitious and industrious, his friends said.

Alyce was of Omaha, Neb., at the time of her operation.

Library Notes

Daniel R. Proutz, librarian, reports the following new books now in the public library:

"Wyatt Earp; Frontier Marshal" by S. N. Lake, a biography of a frontier marshal who outshot the bad men of the toughest mining towns and cow towns of the Old Southwest. On buffalo range, in Dodge City, Deadwood and Tombstone, he altered the course of western history. Wyatt Earp is a real man with real fights and adventures that outrun the novelist's imagination.

"Skating" by Harold Putnam, an easy-to-follow instruction book for skaters, covering technique, fundamentals of skating games, and other information.

"Wrestling" by E. C. Gallagher, a book giving the techniques and fundamentals of this age old sport.

"Lees' Guide to the Game of Draughts or Checkers" by J. W. Dawson, a book on the technique of checker playing, giving the best lines of attack and defense on the standard openings, with notes and variations and selected useful positions.

"From Ragtime to Swingtime" by Isidore Witmark, a story behind the song hits of yesterday from "Sweet Adeline" to "Naughty Marietta." It is the story of the publishing house of Witmark and the part it played in the flowering of American music as well as an autobiography. The House of Witmark started with three boys and a toy printing—this is their story, you read it.

"Best Broadcasts of 1938-39" edited by Max Wyllie. Mr. Wyllie has done for radio what Burns Mantle has done for the stage. Mr. Wyllie has selected the enduring elements of radio. There is fun with a Town Hall program, a news commentary, a University of Chicago round table, drama from the Silver Theatre, a talk by Deems Taylor, March of Time, and H. V. Kaltenborn.

"The Well Tempered Listener" by Deems Taylor, a new book about music and musicians which is divided into "The Makers," "The Givers," and "The Hearers."

"Coulee Dam" by the United States Bureau of Reclamation, a booklet containing a compact, illustrated account of this huge structure. It gives the historical and economic background, the technical features, and the social and economic significance of this undertaking.

George James and C. Hastings, Williamsport, were arrested by Patrolman Charles Mumaw Thursday at 1:10 a. m. for being drunk and disorderly.

F. D. R. TO TOUR NATION IN JUNE TO HELP PARTY

Effort To Solidify Forces Of Democratic Party Being Made

TAFT, DEWEY IN TILT

Republicans Candidates May Battle For Delegates From Maryland

WASHINGTON, April 18 — President Roosevelt today is planning a nationwide tour in June for the purpose of solidifying Democratic sentiment for the 1940 campaign.

The President's decision to make the tour follows a series of moves to placate warring factions within his party. It falls, however, to shed light on his personal plans for the presidential campaign, since the tour will be staged after Mr. Roosevelt's supporters have secured tied up a renomination for a third term—should he desire it.

While the President seemed to be seeking peace among the Democrats, the Republicans were confronted unexpectedly with a show of force within their ranks. This was the challenge of Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, to Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio, to enter the Maryland May 6 preferential primaries. Dewey has entered the Maryland lists and Taft will decide within 24 hours whether to accept the challenge.

The Dewey challenge to Taft riled many Republican leaders, who are opposed to anything but the most friendly contests in primary elections this year. Dewey incidentally lined up the Republican organization in Maryland before issuing the challenge and this may force Taft to stay out of that state. There were some signs that Taft, in turn, might challenge Dewey to enter a contest in West Virginia, where neither has any advance advantage.

Maryland Fight Waged Some G.O.P. leaders, however, are insisting that Taft battle Dewey in Maryland. They contend there is a distinct public trend to Dewey, which is sweeping Republican delegates along with it. Taft or some other presidential aspirant must soon defeat him or his campaign will become a landslide carrying him to the G.O.P. nomination, these leaders asserted.

The President's political peace maneuvers have set tongues wagging in the capital. First, he ordered his third-term followers to stay out of Texas and permit that delegation to go uncontested to Vice President John Nance Garner. Then he gave a three-weeks leave of absence to Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt to stage a nation-wide campaign for the Democratic nomination—providing F.D.R. is not a candidate. Next, he made a public show of friendship for Postmaster General James A. Farley by taking him as a personal guest to the opening baseball game.

Observers are divided over portent of these actions. Some believe the President, now certain to be renominated unless he forcefully withdraws, seeks peace in his party for fear the internal bickering will defeat him should he run for a third term. Others feel he has decided against a third term and is opening the door wide, so the best man may win the Democratic nomination. Still others say he has not made up his mind as yet but proposes to restore harmony to the party so that the Democratic nominee—himself or another—will not be handicapped by intra-party warfare in the coming campaign.

WELER RITES HELD Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon in Columbus with burial in Forest Cemetery, Circleville, for Mrs. Carrie Weller, who died at 76 at her home, 995 Oak Street, Columbus. Mrs. Weller was a sister of Mrs. Sarah Gehart and Mrs. Elizabeth Craft of Circleville.

SPARKS BRING FIREMEN Firemen hurried to the home of Milton E. Friedman, 109 East Mound Street, Wednesday evening, when sparks were reported to be coming from the chimney. It was discovered the sparks were caused by a flue burning out. The fire truck was not summoned.

Ginger and Joel Together Again

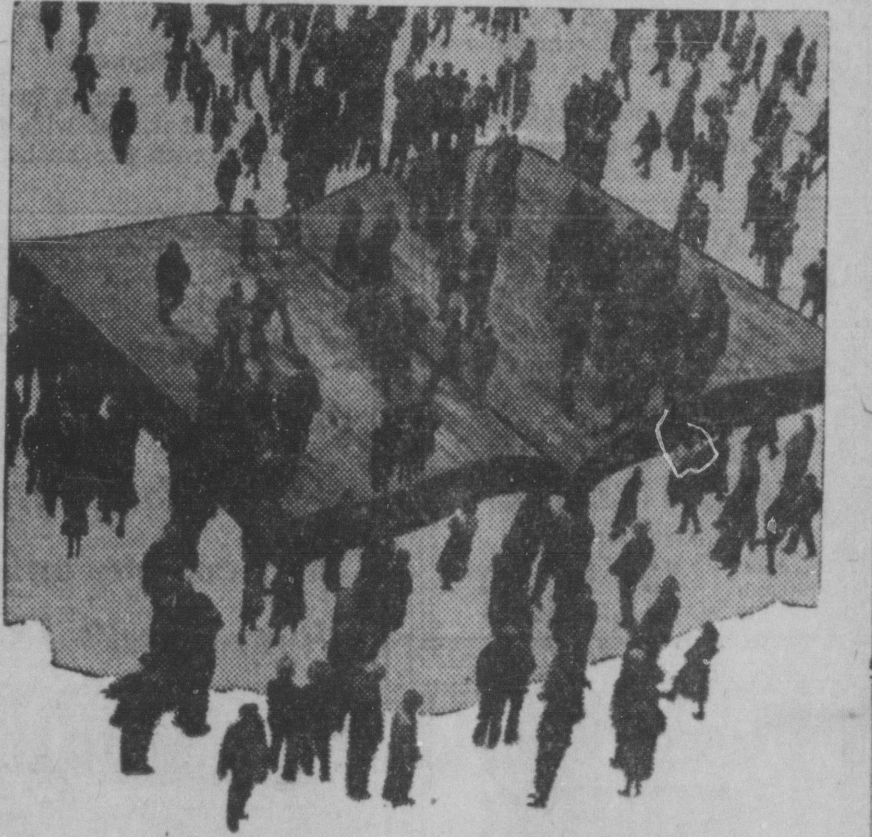

DEPICTING in dramatic fashion the hectic adventures of a young shanty-town girl from "across the tracks," "Primrose Path," starring Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea, opens at the Grand Theatre Sunday. With vivid sympathy the story reveals the girl's efforts to win happiness for herself as she endures the taunts of more fortunate youngsters, the barbed cynicism of her waspish grandmother, the drunken incompetence of her father and the disgrace of her mother's questionable reputation. Joel McCrea is cast as the prideful roadside stand proprietor with whom she marries via a leap-year proposal.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Continued from Page Six) have sewed up Italy in his war kit, but he can't be so sure of Russia now. The Moscow press suddenly has taken on a skeptical tone about the invasion of Norway. . . . Eight presidential candidates were gathered under one roof, that of Publisher Eleanor Medill Patterson, after the Gridiron Dinner. They were Hull, Dewey, Vandenberg, Justices Roberts and Douglas, Bruce Barton and Henry Wallace. . . . For once Martini Dies got hold of something when he pointed to Communist-Nazi propaganda in Mexico and Central America. Official reports bear him out in this. . . . Sunday along F Street, famous shopping thoroughfare of the Nation's Capital, is dull. But every Sunday noon you will see the newest Justice of the Supreme Court, Frank Murphy, strolling up from St. Patrick's Cathedral, looking in the store windows. . . . The still bachelor Justice, just turned 50, is living in a three-room suite in a downtown hotel, but now is looking for a house, preferably in historic Georgetown.

SALONIKA ONCE AGAIN The move to watch for as Italy prepares to jump is the occupation of Salonika, famous Allied embarkation base during the World War. The French and British have planned to use Salonika once again as the port at which to land General Wiegand's 300,000 French troops, plus the Anzacs, in a drive through the Balkans to prevent Germany from capturing Rumania's oil wells. However, the Hitler-Mussolini strategy (and they seem to be working closer and closer together) is for Italy to reach Salonika first. This is why the Italian fleet is now in the Aegean Sea, sitting squarely between Syria and Salonika. This is also why Mussolini's puppet radio speakers and editorial writers have been whipping up the Italian people—who are not at all enthusiastic over war.

Road Department Reports None Of Highways In Danger

Heavy rains which continued through Wednesday and Thursday brought the river stage to 11.6 feet, threatening flood in the low bottom lands.

Irvin Leist, superintendent at the disposal plant, reported the river up .7 feet since noon Wednesday, the measurement then being 10.91 feet. The weather bureau reported .9 of an inch of rainfall in its Thursday morning reading bringing the total for the month to 3.68 inches.

No highways were reported by the Highway Department to be under water.

The Weather Bureau promises fair weather for Friday.

By International News Service Although spring like temperatures prevailed, heavy April showers were general throughout the state today and in some instances were accompanied by thunder and windstorms which caused considerable damage.

In Cincinnati, several buildings were damaged by wind and lightning. Within an hour, rainfall totaling almost an inch fell in Cincinnati.

The forecast for today and tonight was for showers and cooler in the central part with fair and cooler weather prevailing tomorrow.

In West Union, Adams County, the mercury soared to 64 yesterday while temperatures of 61 and 62 were recorded in many towns and cities.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 18 —Heavy rainfall today sent the Ohio River to abnormal heights for the fifth time this month. A crest of 23 feet was recorded.

WASHINGTON, April 18 — President Roosevelt today is planning a nationwide tour in June for the purpose of solidifying Democratic sentiment for the 1940 campaign.

The President's decision to make the tour follows a series of moves to placate warring factions within his party. It falls, however, to shed light on his personal plans for the presidential campaign, since the tour will be staged after Mr. Roosevelt's supporters have secured tied up a renomination for a third term—should he desire it.

While the President seemed to be seeking peace among the Democrats, the Republicans were confronted unexpectedly with a show of force within their ranks. This was the challenge of Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, to Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio, to enter the Maryland May 6 preferential primaries. Dewey has entered the Maryland lists and Taft will decide within 24 hours whether to accept the challenge.

The Dewey challenge to Taft riled many Republican leaders, who are opposed to anything but the most friendly contests in primary elections this year. Dewey incidentally lined up the Republican organization in Maryland before issuing the challenge and this may force Taft to stay out of that state. There were some signs that Taft, in turn, might challenge Dewey to enter a contest in West Virginia, where neither has any advance advantage.

Maryland Fight Waged

Some G.O.P. leaders, however, are insisting that Taft battle Dewey in Maryland. They contend there is a distinct public trend to Dewey, which is sweeping Republican delegates along with it. Taft or some other presidential aspirant must soon defeat him or his campaign will become a landslide carrying him to the G.O.P. nomination, these leaders asserted.

The President's political peace maneuvers have set tongues wagging in the capital. First, he ordered his third-term followers to stay out of Texas and permit that delegation to go uncontested to Vice President John Nance Garner. Then he gave a three-weeks leave of absence to Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt to stage a nation-wide campaign for the Democratic nomination—providing F.D.R. is not a candidate. Next, he made a public show of friendship for Postmaster General James A. Farley by taking him as a personal guest to the opening baseball game.

Observers are divided over portent of these actions. Some believe the President, now certain to be renominated unless he forcefully withdraws, seeks peace in his party for fear the internal bickering will defeat him should he run for a third term. Others feel he has decided against a third term and is opening the door wide, so the best man may win the Democratic nomination. Still others say he has not made up his mind as yet but proposes to restore harmony to the party so that the Democratic nominee—himself or another—will not be handicapped by intra-party warfare in the coming campaign.

WEILER RITES HELD

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon in Columbus with burial in Forest Cemetery, Circleville, for Mrs. Carrie Weiler, who died at 76 at her home, 995 Oak Street, Columbus. Mrs. Weiler was a sister of Mrs. Sarah Gephart and Mrs. Elizabeth Craft of Circleville.

SPARKS BRING FIREMEN

Firemen hurried to the home of Milton E. Friedman, 109 East Mound Street, Wednesday evening, when sparks were reported to be coming from the chimney. It was discovered the sparks were caused by a flue burning out. The fire truck was not summoned.

Ginger and Joel Together Again

DEPICTING in dramatic fashion the hectic adventures of a young shanty-town girl from "across the tracks," "Primrose Path," starring Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea, opens at the Grand Theatre Sunday. With vivid sympathy the story reveals the girl's efforts to win happiness for herself as she endures the taunts of more fortunate youngsters, the barbed cynicism of her waspish grandmother, the drunken incompetence of her father and the disgrace of her mother's questionable reputation. Joel McCrea is cast as the prideful roadside stand proprietor with whom she marries via a leap-year proposal.

SALONIKA ONCE AGAIN

The move to watch for as Italy prepares to jump is the occupation of Salonika, famous Allied embarkation base during the World War. The French and British have planned to use Salonika once again as the port at which to land General Wiegand's 300,000 French troops, plus the Anzacs, in a drive through the Balkans to prevent Germany from capturing Rumania's oil wells. However, the Hitler-Mussolini strategy (and they seem to be working closer and closer together) is for Italy to reach Salonika first. This is why the Italian fleet is now in the Aegean Sea, sitting squarely between Syria and Salonika. This is also why Mussolini's puppet radio speakers and editorial writers have been whipping up the Italian people—who are not at all enthusiastic over war.

ANOTHER INCH OF RAIN FALLS

Road Department Reports None Of Highways In Danger

Heavy rains which continued through Wednesday and Thursday brought the river stage to 11.6 feet, threatening flood in the low bottom lands.

Irvin Leist, superintendent at the disposal plant, reported the river up .7 feet since noon Wednesday, the measurement then being 10.91 feet. The weather bureau reported .9 of an inch of rainfall in its Thursday morning reading bringing the total for the month to 3.68 inches.

No highways were reported by the Highway Department to be under water.

The Weather Bureau promises fair weather for Friday.

THE AMERICAN ORDER

WE might paste this in our hats, or stick it in our pocketbooks, or have it framed on the wall, against the time when we Americans shall be accused of having started the European war to make money. There's no New Deal or Old Deal or, any other kind of political deal about it—it's just an American Deal, which any good citizen with a fair command of language might drag out of his inner consciousness. It was part of the President's address to the Pan-American Union on its fiftieth birthday.

"We of this hemisphere have no need to seek a new international order; we already have found it.

"We did not stamp out nations, capture governments or uproot innocent people from the homes they had built. We did not invent absurd doctrines of race supremacy, or claim dictatorship through universal revolution.

"The Inter-American order was not built by hatred and terror. It has been paved by the endless and effective work of men of good will."

Our job now is to keep it so.

OVER-ZEALOUS SAFEGUARDS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S reasons for vetoing the Starnes bill should receive thoughtful attention. That bill provided for the mandatory deportation of alien criminals, of aliens engaged in espionage or sabotage and convicted of violation of narcotic laws. The President pointed out that there are already adequate laws for the punishment of such offenders. Deportation of those guilty of espionage or sabotage is already legal.

In the section dealing with narcotics, the Starnes bill opened the way to practices which would be far from the ideals and safeguards of the Bill of Rights. It made no distinction between illicit dealers in narcotics and their innocent victims. It called for deportation even of alien addicts lawfully committed to institutions for treatment. Those cured of the drug habit were to be deported along with those found to be incurable.

We need to be as careful in protecting our nation against ill-considered and possibly harmful laws as against the evils such laws are supposedly designed to control.

And from what I have seen of the islanders they can stand much in the way of decoration. If a native finds such a shell and fails to turn it

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WAR MAY COST NORWAY

WASHINGTON — Privately, the Norwegian Government wishes that U. S. diplomat Daisy Harriman were not such a speedy worker. Within a few minutes after she was told by the Norwegian Foreign Minister, "We are at war with Germany," Mrs. Harriman had the message on the wires to the State Department.

Now that message threatens to cost the Norwegians ten million dollars.

What the Norse did not foresee was that such a statement was tantamount to a declaration of war, which automatically invokes the U. S. neutrality act, immediately embargoes credits to Norway, and prevents their getting the ten million dollars already pledged to Norway by the Export-Import Bank.

The message from Minister Harriman came through in the small hours of Monday morning, April 8, and ever since, the State Department and White House have been debating whether or not to invoke the neutrality act.

Actually they would like to hold off, in order to let Norway get the credits. So it is explained that the statement cabled by Mrs. Harriman, "We are at war," was a first-blush statement to which Norway does not want to be held. This is the point stressed by the Norwegian Minister in Washington.

In the case of Finland the neutrality act never was invoked, and U. S. credits continued to move. But Finland made no declaration of war, and Roosevelt avoided finding "that a state of war exists."

In the case of Finland, also, Roosevelt knew that he had public opinion behind him. But the case of Norway is different. Its invasion is not isolated, like the Russo-Finnish conflict, but clearly is a part of the major operations between the Allies and Germany. To withhold application of the neutrality act might be regarded as a flagrant connivance, arousing the indignation of the Hiram Johnson isolationists.

Meantime, the Export-Import Bank is holding a total of $56,000,000, previously committed to five countries in the Scandinavian group. This includes $10,000,000 for Norway; $20,000,000 for Finland ($10,000,000 having been disbursed); $15,000,000 for Sweden; $10,000,000 for Denmark; and $1,000,000 for Iceland.

Viewing the possibility that these credits may never be disbursed, one official of the Bank said, "We save a lot of money, don't we?"

EVIE AND DEWEY

Beauteous Evie Roberts, wife of the secretary of the Democratic National Committee, came up to handsome Tom Dewey at a reception the other day and said:

"I'm Evie Robert. I couldn't get anyone to introduce you to me, so I'm introducing myself."

"My gosh," replied the leading Republican candidate, "I didn't know you looked like this."

Afterward someone asked Mrs. Robert what Dewey was like. Replied she: "Like any little man who has a big blonde come up suddenly behind him."

DIET AND HEALTH

Salmonella Infection Chief Food Poisoning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is salmonella food poisoning?

Health authorities at the present time are of the opinion that most food poisoning is due to salmonella infection. It used to be called "ptomaine poisoning," but this is an inaccurate term.

Salmonella is a germ which is particularly likely to infect food. Probably a great deal of what has been called intestinal influenza this winter is due to salmonella poisoning.

Salmonella causes acute irritation of the stomach and intestinal tract, with nausea, vomiting, prostration and a slight temperature. According to M. J. Rosenau, the famous authority on hygiene in the Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

United States, "Most instances of food poisoning are from food that is fingered and fussed over, inadequately processed or imperfectly preserved. There is little danger in fresh, clean food, whereas food that is prepared hours before it is eaten gives opportunity for the growth of bacteria. The chief offenders in food infection are meat, milk and mixtures containing these products."

In treatment, salmonella infection is self-limited and usually disappears after two or three days of liquid diet and the use of mild sedatives.

Occupational Hazards in Photography

Are there any occupational hazards among photographers?

Nowadays photography is a highly individualistic art, and a great many different chemicals are used which have different possibilities of ill effects. No two large establishments use precisely the same chemicals. There is, therefore, no single occupational disease due to any single chemical or procedure which can be put down as a hazard for photographers.

Such things as the sulfates, for instance, diamidophenol sulfate, acids, sodium thiosulfate, borax and potassium bromide may cause eruptions on the skin and dermatitis, either from contact or from inhalation of these substances.

A great many chemicals used in photography also cause anemia and destruction of the red cells of the blood.

I am asked particularly about dizziness and loss of hearing and loss of smell. This combination of symptoms is not associated with any particular chemical used in photography, but benzene is used in mounting prints and in different kinds of cement, so photographers are exposed to evaporated benzene. In the case of suspicion, it would be well to investigate the fatigability of the person who is ill; also make a careful blood count and find out what kind of mounting cement is used.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. E. P.: "Will you please publish the symptoms and treatment of trigeminal neuralgia?"

Answer—Paroxysmal, lightning-like pains in the region of the forehead, upper jaw, lower jaw or all three places. They are extremely severe and debilitating. They come on in attacks, with intervals of hours, days or weeks of relief. Little things like exposure to drafts, very hot or very cold food in the mouth, or sudden noise, may set off an attack of pain. The treatment is to numb in some way the trigeminal nerve. In the most severe forms the only relief is obtained by surgical removal of the ganglion of the trigeminal nerve.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

"WHAT WERE you doing in that boat?" asked the man named Pete. He was a dark fellow, with an attempted moustache. I didn't like his looks.

"I wasn't playing tag!" I snapped at him. The young fellow who was cutting the ropes that bound my hands and feet was sober and wide-eyed. "You would have drowned in another minute."

"Do you know who put you there?" Pete asked. I shook my head. "I know his name—that's all. I've never been able to see his face. He's a boot-legger named William Calla."

Did I imagine that a startled look passed across the face of the boy bending over me? I wondered if I had made a mistake. Perhaps these fellows were friends of the man who had tried to kill me.

I tried to hide my uneasiness as I stood up and straightened my aching back. There were shooting pains in my ribs. My hands and feet felt dead, their circulation cut off.

The boy was fumbling in the sack that had been over my head. He extracted a small piece of paper and looked at it in the light of a lantern. "This belong to you?"

One of the other men reached for it, but I got it first. It was a sheet of rough note paper with business memoranda on it. I guessed it was a list of Calla's customers or orders, lost in the sack by accident.

"Yes, it's mine," I lied, and stuffed it in a pocket. I leaned against a pile of potato sacks, rubbing my wrists together. I felt better now, except for the sore spots where Calla had kicked me.

The members of the crew, five or six of them, were gathered uncertainly around me, just outside the circle of light thrown by the lantern. The boat was underway again, pushing down stream through the fog.

"Where's your next stopping place? Where can I get off?" I asked.

For a moment there was no reply, then the man named Pete informed me: "We don't stop for ten miles down the delta, and there's no way you can get back to the city in the middle of the night. Why don't you go to Frisco with us?"

"But I don't want to go to San Francisco. I've got to get back—"

I halted abruptly. I was going to say that I had to get back to put the police on the trail of William Calla, but again I was afraid these might be friends of his. I was suspicious, his having found this boat so easily in the fog, and apparently knowing its sailing time to the delta. This might be the barge that brought him his liquor supplies.

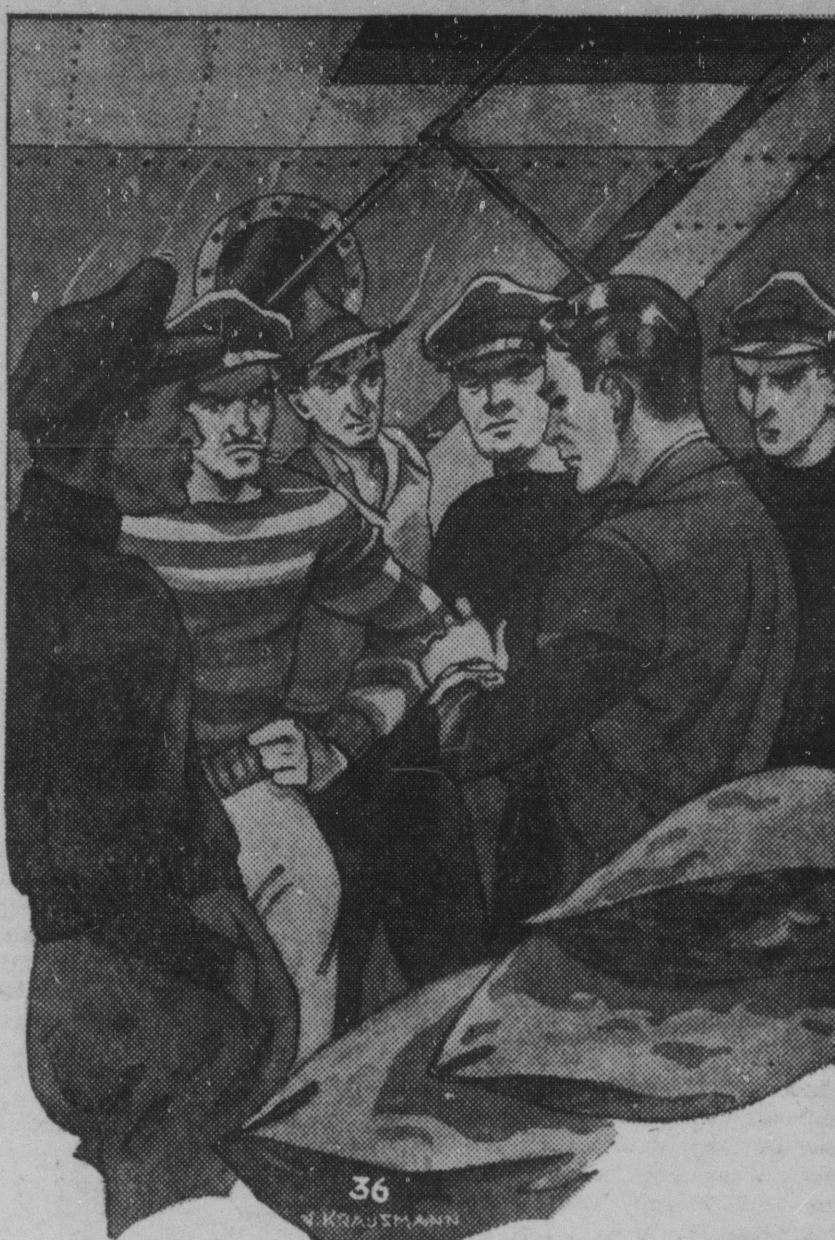

A small man with a limp stepped forward. "Come up to the galley and get warm," he invited. "I got a pot of hot stew."

I accepted his invitation. As I climbed the ladder to the upperworks of the potato barge I looked back and saw dimly through the fog the rest of the crew conversing in a knot at the stern. They seemed, from their gestures, to be arguing about something.

The moon had disappeared completely. The night was a thick one for summer.

The little man was very hospitable. He pulled an extra sweater and a pair of much-laundered overalls from a bag under his bunk. I changed into the dry clothes, although they were several sizes too small for me. At any other time I could have laughed at the sight I must have been.

My wet clothes I hung on hooks beside the galley stove to dry, after first extracting from my trousers pocket the wet note that had been found in the sack. I was disappointed to discover that it revealed no names, only dates that evidently were records of business transactions. I was especially interested in one—"May 16, 11 P. M." It was a familiar date to me, five weeks before Alfred Markham's death. That was the date, to the hour, that I had first seen the house at 2 Cleaves street.

"Stew!" said the cook, shoving a hot bowl toward me across the table. He was eyeing the paper curiously.

"Thanks," I crumpled the note again and stuffed it into the pocket of the overalls.

The stew was excellent. Between mouthfuls I questioned the little cook and learned that the motor barge and crew worked all night, arriving in San Francisco in time for early morning delivery.

"And do I have to go all the way with you?" I asked him.

"I think you'd make better time. There's nobody on the delta would want to give you a ride back at this time of night, unless you paid him plenty."

I thought it over while I turned my wet clothes to let the other side dry for a while. I was willing to pay if it was necessary, but the more I thought of it the more I wondered if my best plan wouldn't be to telephone back from the next landing and turn the police loose on William Calla's trail.

"How long is your first stop?" I asked.

"Oh, maybe half an hour. We've got a big load of spuds to pick up at Berger's wharf."

"Telephone there?"

"I suppose so." He gave me a queer look.

I didn't know what to do. The cook didn't look like a criminal character, but perhaps I had already said too much. I walked to the door and went out into the fog. There was a tiny landing there at the head of the stairs that led down to where the cargo was carried on the main deck. I leaned against the rail and looked into the fog. Except for the chug of the motor and the splash of water the night was silent. There was something ominous about it.

A half hour later the cook came out and banged a spoon on the bottom of a pan to attract the crew. Five men came up the stairs. They gave me the impression, as they squeezed past me, that they were ill at ease.

The cook beckoned me back inside after them. "More grub," he announced. "That stew was just a starter."

I joined the crew around the oil-cloth covered table. The men were quiet. Aside from Pete, who sat at the head of the table, they looked to me like typical river bums. Possible exception was the large man who sat next to Pete's right and ate his food without looking up. There was something vaguely familiar about him. His face was not as tanned and leathery as the faces of the others. He was not as shifty eyed, but his face was brutal as well as forceful. Of all the crew I sensed that he was the man I could trust least.

I couldn't tell just how big he was, because he sat hunched over his plate of beans with scarcely room to operate the knife between them and his mouth.

It was not until I got up to turn my wet clothes again that I discovered why that big man disturbed me so. I happened to glance down at his feet. He was wearing a pair of shoes I could never forget. They were the shoes I had seen when I looked through the crack under the door at 2 Cleaves street.

Not only that, but the bottoms of the trousers were the same. I made a quick estimate of his proportions—and was convinced. He was William Calla!

Nearly 300 Take Part In Grangers' Program

Logan Elm Offers Entertainment At Scioto

Approximately 280 grangers, juveniles and visitors enjoyed the delightful social evening Wednesday when Logan Elm Grange carried the program to Scioto Grange at its meeting in the Commercial Point School auditorium.

The excellent entertainment arranged by Mrs. G. D. Bradley, lecturer of Logan Elm Grange, opened with an instrumental solo "Old Black Joe", by Clifford L. Kerns with Miss Polly Jane Kerns at the piano.

A playlet, "A Tax on Bachelors", was presented, the character parts being taken by Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. Marvin Dreisbach, Mrs. A. J. Warner, Mrs. Eva Dresbach, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. Charles Dresbach and Mrs. Otis Leist.

A panel discussion on "Standardized Labeling" was an interesting feature, those taking part including Hoyt and Virgil Timmons, Miss Irene Pontius, Nelson Warner and G. D. Bradley.

A pantomime, "Building the American Flag", included Joan Mowery and Ann Bradley, Maynard Warner and Bobby Wilson as builders and Mrs. George Jury, reader. The boys' chorus, comprised of Neil Leist, Jimmy Wolford, Clifford L. Kerns, Rogers May, George Wilson, Maurice Jury, Nelson Warner, Virgil and Hoyt Timmons, sang during the presentation of the pantomime, Miss Kerns playing the piano accompaniment.

Refreshments were served by the Scioto Grange hospitality committee during the social hour.

The next traveling program will be presented May 28 at Star Grange, Monroe School, Scioto Grange will carry the program to this session.

USUALLY, NOT ALWAYS
LEADING trumps first is what a suit declarer generally should do. There are two principal reasons, however, why he should not lead them at the outset of certain hands, and other reasons at other times. The most frequent cause for postponement is the desire to use certain trumps for ruffing out losers or ruffing to set up a suit. The next most frequent is probably the desirability of discarding a loser or two before giving up the lead in trumps. Sometimes these are combined in one hand.

That rather bold contract was thrown away by an inexperienced declarer in a social duplicate game. He won the club Q lead with the A, then led a spade to the J and A. East raked in both the A and Q of hearts, then led a spade to limit clubs ruffs. Thus the side took still another trick, since South could trump only one club and discard one on the diamonds when the finesse worked.

At another table 4-Spades went through successfully. After winning the club lead, South ruffed a club, returned to his hand with the diamond K, finessed the diamond J, led the diamond A and, when East ruffed high with the A, discarded a heart. East took the heart A, then led a trump. South winning. Declarer then led another club, ruffing with the J. This left him one club loser, which made only a third trick for the enemy.

A group of friends of Miss Virginia Richey gathered Wednesday in her new home on West Mound Street for a housewarming, the affair being arranged as a surprise.
A cooperative buffet supper was served to Mrs. Helen Wolf, Mrs. Harry Gatrell, Mrs. Ernest Liniger, Mrs. Stella Spangler, Mrs. Doris Leasure, Mrs. Leota Metzger, Mrs. A. J. Lyle, Mrs. Tom Drum, the Misses Minnie Palm, Elizabeth Renick, Bease Gordon, Mildred Urton, Louise Wagner, Clarissa Talbut and Leona Dumm.

Party at Salem Church
A group of younger members of Salem Methodist Church were entertained there at a party, April 16.

Those present were the Misses Bernadine and Dorothy Hinton, Mary Miller, Rosemary Green, June Miller, Evon Dodd, Rosemary and June Hildenbrand, Peggy Vandergriff, Bertha Jane and Rosemary Kerns, Marguerite and Phoebe Timmons, Beatrice Rhoades, Allen Woolever, Hershel Hinton, Junior French, Junior Rhoades, Kenneth Timmons, Richard Hildebrand, Mrs. Ruth Woolever and Mrs. Joseph Green.

Music and games were included in the entertainment, refreshments being served at the close of the evening.

Missionary Convention
The Rev. and Mrs. A. N. Gruesser, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. James Pierce, delegates of the United Brethren Women's Missionary Association of Circleville, attended the Wednesday sessions of the Southern Ohio Branch, W. M. A., convention in Wellston.

Several members of the Otterbein Guild are planning to attend the guild banquet tonight at 6:30 o'clock, weather permitting. Those who plan to go to Wellston are the Misses Katherine Turner, Dorothy Jenkins, Lucille and Betty May, Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, Mary Ruth Noggle, Polly Jane Kerns and Lucille Kirkwood.

Garden Club Lecture
Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. Ralph Curtin, Mrs. Donald H. Watt and Mrs. Mack Noggle of Circleville were in Columbus, Wednesday, where they attended a lecture on flower arrangement by Mrs. L. L. Leveque. The lecture was presented in the club rooms of the Garden Center of Columbus.

Mrs. Leveque is an authority on Japanese arrangement.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

USUALLY, NOT ALWAYS
LEADING trumps first is what a suit declarer generally should do. There are two principal reasons, however, why he should not lead them at the outset of certain hands, and other reasons at other times. The most frequent cause for postponement is the desire to use certain trumps for ruffing out losers or ruffing to set up a suit. The next most frequent is probably the desirability of discarding a loser or two before giving up the lead in trumps. Sometimes these are combined in one hand.

Early potatoes can be planted just as soon as the ground is workable. Even if there should be a late frost it will do no harm if it is not severe enough to penetrate the ground to the depth at which the seed potatoes are planted.

One method of getting an early start with potatoes is shown in the accompanying illustration. Cut the potatoes into pieces, each piece having one or two eyes, then place in a flat. Cover with sand, as illustrated, and place in a warm room, in sunlight if possible. The

COUNCILMEN IN QUEST OF MONEY TO PAY $4,000 DEBT

DELINQUENT TAX BONDS MAY END FUND SHORTAGE

Gordon And Helvering Plan Visit To Auditor Seeking Important Information

EMERGENCY DISCUSSED

Morgan Asks Consideration Of Several Projects To Keep Men Working

Two committees of Circleville council were scheduled to swing into action Thursday in an effort to find money with which to pay its relief indebtedness to the county commissioners. Unless some source of finances can be found, the county expects to turn administration of the city's relief problem back to the municipality.

John C. Goeller, president of Circleville council, designated Wednesday evening that the finance committee, headed by Ben H. Gordon, and the service committee, directed by Clarence Helvering, should go to work at once to try to solve the relief solution. The first job on the committees' hands will be to determine the amount of bonds Circleville can issue in anticipation of payment of delinquent taxes. This means was seen as the one most likely to bring a temporary respite from the crisis that is facing the city in its relief program.

All members of council expressed readiness and willingness to do whatever is possible to raise money to pay the commissioners a debt of practically $4,000, but all, too, are puzzled concerning from what source the money will come. If it is found that tax delinquencies are not sufficient to permit a bond issue that will take care of the emergency, councilmen do not know which way they will turn.

County in Need, Too

As the situation stands now the county is paying the city's bills and going deeper into debt itself, while the city is paying nothing toward its share of the relief load. Relief Director Delos Marcy told council that the commissioners are now about $4,000 in the 'red' themselves, and they do not know from what source money is coming to handle the deficit. "We've been in the 'red' before," Marcy said, "but we've always known from what source money was coming until now. Just how long Auditor Forrest Short will continue to pay the relief orders I do not know."

The service committee was also instructed Wednesday by President Goeller to study means of continuing WPA street repair projects in Circleville. The need for work to keep men on WPA busy after the Atwater Avenue improvement is completed was cited by Service Director Leonard Morgan. Morgan suggested several improvements that should be made, includ-

Cirithium or Cancellari: Ask Dr. Bales, He Knows

If you ever have any shells you want identified, ask Dr. B. R. Bales, 149 West Main Street, to help you. He'll probably tell you the shells you have are Cirithium, a very common variety of little value, and not Cylindrobulla Beauli or Cancellari, which are worth $50 each.

Dr. Bales has one of the finest collections of shells in this part of the country. He has spent over seven years collecting shells, and has in his collection over 5,200 varieties. He has four Cancellaria. Only seven are known to exist.

Dr. Bales has spent seven of the last 15 months hunting shells between Lower Matecumbe Key and Bahia Honda, where he discovered seven varieties hitherto unknown to science. He returned last week from a winter among the Florida Keys.

Hunting shells requires lots of patience, Dr. Bales maintains. Some shells, such as the Lithovaga, or "Rock Levers," burrow two or three inches into the solid ing the Smith Ditch repair in the southeast and repair of Court Street. A general repair program on the city's streets is imperative, too, the service director pointed out. The sidewalk, curb and gutter program will get under way in the next month.

Gordon and Helvering planned to interview Auditor Short sometime Thursday to learn the amount of bonds, if any, they may issue against the anticipated payment of delinquent taxes.

TWO TO ATTEND CONVENTION OF BAHAI HOUSE

Mrs. Blanche Motschman and Mrs. W. W. Robinson, of Circleville, are planning to attend the thirty-second annual Baha'i Convention which will be held in Wilmette, Ill., at the Baha'i Universal House of Worship from April 25 to 28, inclusive.

The purpose of the Convention is to elect a new National Assembly for the forthcoming year and to discuss the progress of the American Baha'i Community whose membership embraces all races, creeds and nationalities. The delegates will visit for the first time the new national headquarters of the Faith which was moved from New York to Wilmette last fall. Administrative affairs for the entire western hemisphere are conducted from this center which marks the geographical and spiritual heart of the Americas.

The delegates will participate in the series of discussions and forums conducted during the Convention which will cover the following subjects: completion of the exterior ornamentation of the House of Worship; the growth of the American Baha'i Community; teaching in Latin America; Baha'i schools and child education. Believing that religion is the only force making universal order out of world turmoil, delegates will consider ways and means for spreading the Baha'i teachings on the unity of all religious systems, and the oneness of the human race.

Similar conventions are being held simultaneously in three other countries of the Baha'i World Community. This convention will close with a public meeting in the House of Worship Sunday, April 28.

The Baha'i Faith had its inception in Iran in 1844. It has spread to 44 countries of the world and its literature has been translated into 40 languages. Baha'is of the world accept the principle of unity of all religions, races, creeds and nationalities. Their individual and collective life is based on the concept that the human race has become of age and that out of its collective experience new social patterns are becoming visible. These new social patterns reflect a change of spiritual consciousness which indicates a new civilization based upon the Laws of God for this day. These laws, Baha'is believe, have been revealed by Baha'u'llah, the Founder of the Baha'i Faith.

Pickaway Truck Involved In Washington C. H. Traffic Mishap

Marion Robinett, 23, of Washington C. H., was taken to Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday after his motorcycle, traveling at a high speed, struck the livestock truck owned by S. D. McFarland of Scioto Township driven by Edgar Davis.

The accident happened at the Paint and Delaware Street intersection in Washington C. H.

Davis was headed north on Delaware Street and Robinett was headed east on Paint Street.

Robinett sustained a fractured right wrist, fractured left arm below the elbow, left leg fractured below the knee and multiple cuts and bruises.

He was removed to the office of Dr. J. H. Persinger, in an ambulance and after being cared for there was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital. He is expected to recover.

Police said that the truck apparently had slowed down but did not come to a full stop at the Paint Street intersection and that Robinett, traveling rapidly, had no chance to stop or avoid the crash.

Davis, the truck driver, was questioned but not held.

The motorcycle was wrecked and the truck damaged somewhat.

Wilmette on April 24 and Mrs. Motschman will join her there on April 26.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
